

Lyrics Nadador

Tem um Preço/Dudu Tucci (Track 13)

Fenders, lifesavers have a price, your passionate glance has a price, a walk through the city has a price, free flight through space has a price.

The market of hearts, the property market, the market of stars, the market of the future, the market of wood, the market of birds, the market of men, the market of women, the market of children, the market of planes, the market of cars, the market of faith, the market of ideas, the market of books, the market of hunger, the market of freedom, the market of thoughts, the market of eyes, the market of organs and of Justice, the market of the arts, it is a supermarket, the free market, the black market, the white market, the market of weapons, the market of health, the market of illusions, the market of God, the market of Amsterdam, the market of Tokio, the market of Manaus, the open market, the closed market, the market of the market of the market of the mega-market Everything has a price, everything has a price....
